

NetApp Senior Vice President to Deliver Keynote Address at the 2007 Baxter Planning Systems User Group

Austin, Texas – October 16, 2007 - Network Appliance, Inc. (NASDAQ:NTAP), a leading provider of storage and data management solutions, will be the corporate sponsor of the 2007 Baxter Planning Systems User Group, with senior vice president of Global Support Rusty Walther delivering the keynote address. The three-day event will take place October 29 through 31 in Santa Clara, CA.

Rusty Walther will join Greg Baxter of Baxter Enterprises to welcome attendees and will then deliver the opening address, "In Search of the Holy Grail - Productive Partnerships." This keynote address will highlight the reasons why many technology partnerships fail, what drives a successful partner ecosystem, ways to maximize and leverage your supply chain, and ways to avoid the common mistakes that so often result in high hopes but poor results. The 2007 Baxter Planning Systems User Group is presented by Baxter Planning Systems, the premier provider of after-market parts planning solutions. The reception and dinner on the first night will be followed by two exciting days of networking, training, and best practice education with fellow planning and forecasting experts. Presenters include supply chain experts from Johnson & Johnson, Fujitsu, Carestream, Extreme Networks, Alcatel-Lucent, and SGI. Event: 2007 Baxter Planning Systems User Group October 29 through 31 Hyatt Regency and Network Meeting Center Santa Clara, CA.
